THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CON-VENTION.

A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 24th of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominees of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the convention.

J. D. CAMERON, Chairman.

THOMAS E. KEOGH, Secretary.

The deadliest thing in politics is Democratic hope.

The Democrats in Congress may be said
to exist—that is about as strong as it can be put.

There is not much left of General Butler,
but what there is of him, will be withdrawn
from the Presidential contest.

There are only three counties in Delaware, and one hundred and fifty-one in Texas; five in Rhode Island, and one hundred and thirty-seven in Georgia.

Tilden has dismissed Nephew Pelton and will try somebody else's nephew. He wants some one more skilled in cipher
and more extensively learned in tricks than Pelton.

The Mantiowoc Tribune states it about right when it says that Speaker Arnold must be making a very efficient officer judging from the amount of abuse the Milwaukee Sentinel is heaping upon him.

The man needed by the Democrats for a candidate for President is described by "Bob" Ingersoll in this wise: "They need one who was opposed to the war, but never said so—some man that was really a rebel that you can't prove it on."

It is said that Governor Davis, of Maine, is still young—only 37 years old. When a boy, when a boy he worked on a farm and in the winter went to school. While a soldier during the war he filled up the interval of fighting with studying Latin and recting to an officer.

The reported cause of the delay in reporting the nominations of the census-takers for confirmation is due to the fact that the Democrats insist that one-half of the whole number should be Democrats.

The appointees are nearly all Democrats in the South, and now they want half of the North. This is the old-time Democratic greed.

The investigation into the causes and which led to the negro exodus, does not seem to help Dan Voorhees very much nor his party. He wanted to make it appear that it was a Republican trick, but the more he investigates the more "he finds out" that political tyranny and Democratic dishonesty are driving them from the South to the North.

Some day the secret history of the Maine conspiracy will all come to light. By degrees it is coming out, and the last contribution is by the Fusion Governor, who, on the day of the downfall of the pretended government, made this confession. It is an interesting bit of news: "All through this struggle I have had to withstand the efforts of the more violent men in our party to provide a contest at arms.
Some day the secret history of this thing
will come out, and it will be seen that I have acted as a conservative man. Only to-day I was visited by a delegation from a neighboring county, and asked to authorize the bringing of a thousand armed men to this city of Augustus for the purpose of capturing the State House, and this very night I was labored with by a certain man to consent to a plan which could hardly have failed to put us in the State House before Tuesday night. I refused to enter into the plan."

INGERSOLL ON POLITICS.

Colonel R. G. Ingersoll was in Chicago
last Saturday, and a reporter for the Evening Journal secured an interview with him on the subject of politics, and especially with regard to the Presidential candidates and their chances. In answer to the question, "What are they doing in Congress?"
the genial Colonel was forced to smile, and say, "They are all looking after their chances. Everyone has his lightning-rod away up, in expectation of a Presidential stroke, and is afraid to vote even to adjourn in some way his 'chances' should be injured." He considers that the result of the Fusion movement has given Mr.
Blaine a "boost" which will carry him through the Convention at Chicago. He thinks he will get the most votes of any candidate on the first ballot; that he will lead off with the votes from Maine, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, Michigan, California, and half the Southern States. He does not think John Sherman will draw enough strength to make his chances even possible under any circumstances. The Colonel does not fail to strike at the Administration whenever an opportunity presents itself, and in regard to Sherman he considers that his being connected with Hayes' Administration will be a greater load than he can carry.

Regarding General Grant, Colonel Ingersoll expresses the opinion that he will not be a candidate, that he doesn't want it, and that the men who are shouting for Grant
are men who are after a little notoriety
and who are trying to get up a Grant boom on their own account. The Colonel then said: "Grant was a great soldier. He won the respect of the civil-

FROM MADISON.

Report of the Commissioner of Insurance—Governor Davis to Governor Smith.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Feb. 2—Commissioner of Insurance, Spoorer, has completed his annual report, and it will be published in a few days. The total amount of business done for the past year including home companies, companies from other states and foreign Companies, shows as follows:

Policies written.....	$149,945,441.05
Premiums received.....	1,493,215.08
Losses paid.....	99,811.34
Losses incurred.....	1,16,029.05

Governor Smith has received a letter from Governor Davis, of Maine, thanking him and the Wisconsin Legislature for the timely resolutions of sympathy sent, and stating the proper official acknowledgment
will be made soon.

COMBINATIONS.

The Gigantic Railway Combinations
of Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—The gigantic railroad combinations of Jay Gould are beginning to excite feelings of distrust and alarm among the leading business men of this city. The feeling is growing daily that it is time to put some limitation upon the power of individuals to exercise absolute dictatorship over the highways of traffic. A petition to Congress calling attention to this subject is being circulated in all the exchanges, and is receiving many signatures. The petition recites that great alarm is felt at the rapidly growing power of railroad corporations, which feeling is greatly intensified by their policy of consolidating under the control of a few individuals all the principal competing roads to the Pacific seaboard,
thus forming a gigantic and powerful organization to control absolutely the industrial and commercial interests of the country and the value of its products. They exercise and abuse their power by discriminating unjustly between individuals and corporations. The remedy sought in the early passage of the Reagan inter-state commerce bill.

HAMMOND.

He Takes All Back and Denies that
He Made a Confession.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—General Hammond's case seems to be one of a deathbed repentance. He is recovering very rapidly, and will be out in a day or two.
Now that he is sure of recovery he denies that he ever made any confession, and says that his statements to the committee of the Indian board, on Thursday last, does not conflict in any way with his original testimony. He declines to go into details or answer questions, and expresses great indignation at the published report. The statements made by the investigating committee and General Fisk, and those made by General Hammond, are totally irreconcileable, and it will become a question of veracity unless a different interpretation can be secured for one or the other. The committee understood General Hammond to confess on Thursday that the letter was genuine,
which on Monday he swore was a forgery,
and that he had denied it at the earliest solicitation of Commissioner Hayt, who held that to avow the genuineness of the letter would be the ruin or both of them.
They also understood General Hammond to promise that as soon as he was physically able he would expose the whole crookedness of Hayt's administration.

NOT GUILTY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—The trial of Mrs Smith and Core Bennett for the murder of the husband of Mrs Smith, a policeman of Jersey City, resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

POSTAL SERVICE.

Bids for Carrying the United States
Mails.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—At the postoffice Department yesterday bids were opened for carrying the mails on the star routes in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, and several other States for the ensuing four years. In all these States every county seat is given a daily mail for the first time in the history of the government.
There were over 60,000 bids. Singularly enough there were more bids from North Carolina than from the great State of Ohio.
The bids are generally low, and it is thought at the department that the aggregate service will cost not greatly more than heretofore. During the month of January 1,000 postmasters were commissioned, the largest number ever commissioned in the history of the government. Most of these are in the far West, where there seems to be a boom in business equal to any previous in the history of the country. So far as can be judged by postoffice business, Kansas has a million of population, and is increasing at the rate of $150,000 annually.

A PLUCKY WOMAN.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Feb. 1—Soon after dark
Friday night, Mrs. Theo. Durham, wife of an Ohio & Mississippi Railroad man, at home by herself, heard some one cutting away the window shutters of her residence, when she at once fired two shots—thirty-two caliber balls—from a handy revolver, one crashing through the sash, glass, and shutters, and the other lodging in the sash near by. The burglar at once fled, making good his escape through the back yard. The next morning blood was found on the plank near the window and along the zigzag trail he took, so far as it could be followed. It is supposed he was mortally wounded. There was a large amount of money in the house, which the burglar must have known. There is also a remarkable coincidence in the matter. Twice before during the last two years Mrs. Durham has shot at burglars under precisely the same circumstances and with the same effect as that one, firing at random while the burglar was cutting the window, and both times drawing blood, but the burglar escaping.

NARROW GAUZE.

MILWAUKEE Jan. 31—The Milwaukee and Dubuque Narrow Gauge Railroad Company held their annual meeting this afternoon, and elected the following officers: President, H. M. Benjamin; Vice President, Oliver Dalrymple; Secretary and Treasurer, William F. Dalrymple; Directors, H. M. Benjamin, of Milwaukee; W. F. Dalrymple, Pittsfield, Pa.; Oliver Dalrymple, St. Paul; Judge A. Cox, Warren N. Dalrymple, Sugar Grove, and George H. Noyes, Milwaukee. The company claim, as it usually has every annual meeting for several years back, that it is in good shape to begin work soon.

PAPER PAELS BURNED.

BELoit, Feb. 1—A fire was discovered
about 4:30 this afternoon in the drying room of the Beloit Paper Mill Company, destroying a frame building and 800 prls.
Loss $200. Spontaneous combustion was the cause.

RELEASED.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 1—W. W. Nottingham, the self-accused murderer, was released from imprisonment this afternoon by order of Chief-of-Police Kennedy, the Virginia authorities having failed to send for him.

STANLEY HEARD FROM.

LONDON, Feb. 2—A special from Zinzibar says that the African explorer, Henry M. Stanley, has reached the last fall of the river Congo, at Yallala.

H. PATTERSON, P. M.

A REAL "LITTLE NELL."

As Sweet and Bright and Lovely as Dickens'.

From the Interests with Thurlow Weed.

Forty years ago I was living in Albany, and one afternoon on leaving the office went to the barber's to get shaved. There were several men in the office at the time, and while I was under the barber's hands, I heard them say that a young master named Chapman, had died that day of delirium tremens, in a room that was bare of furniture, fire and food, and that they had found a little child two years of age alone with the corpse. After I had gone through I asked the man what had become of the child and they told me that Jenkins, the constable, had taken it to a woman's house, on such a street, to care for it until it was sent to the poorhouse. It was a terrible winter's day, and a lurid storm was raging as I went home. The storm still continued as I told the story over again. At the tea table I told the story over again. As soon as we had finished my son (he was living then) rose and said, "father shall I go and look after the child?" I told him no—that he need not go. Then I put on my overcoat and when I got to the door, I found my daughter there, with her bonnet and shawl on, and I asked her what she intended to do. "To go with you and bring that baby home," I told her that the storm was too severe. I found the house, and as I entered the sitting room I asked the woman in charge if I could see Mr. Chapman's little girl. "Certainly," was the answer, and she said, "Mary, a gentleman wished to see you." I had not noticed a little girl 2 years old, sitting quietly in a corner, in the fireplace. She came and sat upon my lap. I took her home that night, and we took her to our hearts.

The blessing of God came into the house with that child," said Mr. Weed, and as he said it his voice quivered. She was as sweet and bright and lovely as the "little Nell" whom Dickens has made immortal. She stayed with us two years and each year we loved her more and more, and she won every heart with which she came in contact. In her we found that "Little Nell" was no fancy picture, but a living picture, and you cannot wonder that I loved the hand that drew the lineaments.

Mr. Weed here took off his watch and chain, and showed his visitor two portraits of the fair young girl—one enameled on the inside of his watch, and the other contained in a pendant charm—each strikingly lovely.

"The story of that child," he continued, "is as strange as any fiction. After her death we remembered having heard a rumor that Mrs. Chapman had left another and older child at Charleston, and with my wife and daughter I went there to look it up. At the hotel I picked up a director, selected a name identified with charities, and found that this gentleman had actually adopted Mrs. Chapman's boy, and that he had been the best and brightest boy in the institution. He was ready for college and came and visited us for a month. At Niagara he caught a severe cold, and in a month we laid him at rest beside his sister. But this is not all. We were in Europe shortly afterwards, and at Boulogne met an officer of the British navy, whose wife as it happened, had known Mrs. Chapman as a child in England (where she was born) and had traced her to the island of Santa Cruz in the West Indies, where she had been a governess in the family of the Danish Governor Von Schoultz. She had gone thence to Charleston and married there." Mr. Weed subsequently visited the Governor at Vera Cruz, and there connected the life history of his "little Nell."

History repeats itself. "When Commodore Vanderbilt wished to start in the steamboat business," says Cornelius Vanderbilt, "he had but $9,000 of the $15,000 necessary for the purchase, and his wife went to a corner where she had concealed the $10,000 she had saved without his knowledge, and brought forth the funds thus laying the foundation of the Vanderbilt fortune." Not long ago a Chicago woman wanted to start a spring bonnet, but had only $17. Her husband went to a corner in wheat where he had concealed $10,000, and took out $12, which he gave to his wife, thus establishing a bonnet which was such a duck of a thing that the wearer captured the affections of another woman's husband, with whom she subsequently ran away.

Economy and Style.
A couple of young ladies who went to Dubuque to spend the holidays, concluded to couple style with economy, and did so effectually. They left Chicago in a common coach on the Illinois Central railroad, sitting with their eyes toward a luxurious palace car trundling along at the rear, envying the half dozen ladies who had it all to themselves. When the train arrived at Freeport the two stylish young ladies concluded to engage seats in the palace car, and entered it for that purpose.

"The seats in this car are extra, ladies," politely remarked the conductor.
"We are aware of that sir. What do you charge to Dubuque?"
"One dollar."
"That's that's too much."
"The price diminishes, ladies, as we approach Dubuque."
"What is the price from Galena?"
"Thirty cents."
"Well, we will occupy two seats from Galena."

"All right."
The young ladies left the Pullman, and as they made their exit they were heard to remark:

"Jane, it would be horrible to enter Dubuque in a common coach. Style is everything, and as it won't cost but thirty cents each, we'll go into the city in style; we know not but that we came all the way from Chicago in the pulman."

And sure enough upon the arrival of the train their friends who were at the depot to meet them found them in the palace coach.

Old Friends in New Phases.
The mule—the reach of his heels is not to be determined by the length of its ears.

The goat—the but of many a joke, but still buttin' his kids.

The front gate—it has swayed many a couple to unceasing hatred of each other. The setting hen—the "offox" of the poultry yard.

The front stoop—romance without upholstery.

Hash—a compound to test the subtlety of faith.

The old man's boot—a rear elevator in the front hallway.

The church fair strew—parvo in multum.

That may not be good Latin, but it it reverses the legend it's all right.

The minister's slippers—good deal of under size.

The parlor sofa—the shorter it is the longer you like to sit on it, with good company.

Boarding house butter—cut off its hair and Samson-like it will lose its strength.

The cross bulldog—it bites at the lesser's seat of industry.

The kerosene oil can—the servant girl's royal road to glory.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES.

The Money Made and Lost by an Impresario—An Error that Be Avoided.

San Francisco Chronicle.

In catering to the public taste for amusements, the chances in favor of tickling the people's palate are about off-set by those of offering dishes which are refused as unpalatable. The sequel of this purse-ace is, of course, a fortune or a failure. The ups and downs of a manager bear a strong family likeness to the downs and ups of mining stock dealers. It is abundance-to-day, stint-to-morrow; thousands rolling in this week, and no receipts the next; a town and country residence in 1875 and money borrowed to pay the taxes thereon in 1879; extravagance preceding retrenchment, and affluence following on the heels of penury. Whether known among men by the name of impresario or manager, lessor or proprietor, it is the man who risks his money upon a theatrical show to whom these remarks refer. A very pertinent example of the manner in which Dame Fortune takes a hand in the affairs, good and bad, of these gentlemen, is furnished by Signor Carlo A. Chizzola, at present in San Francisco as manager of the Patti concert season. It will be interesting to watch for a few minutes the sun-shine and cloud which have marked this impresario's career, not only because he has set up his tabernacle with us for a while, but because he also occupies a representative position. Mr. Chizzola, before embarking in managerial speculations, was like his associate De Vivo, a member of the Italian army, with this difference, however, that whilst De Vivo served as a private,

tion of the dog, as shown in the negatives, would scarcely be believed by any one who had not seen the fact recorded by the "wearing finger of light." It is usual to delineate a greyhound extended, but these negatives among other positions give the animal with its limbs gathered under him storing his strength for spring. The dog is at speed by holding him on one side, while an attendant takes rabbit across a line drawn in front of the camera, the ground being covered with a sheet of India rubber to prevent any dust or pebbles flying up to impair the clear-cut outlines of the picture; the moment the dog passes in front of the camera the fine wire broken, the electric circuit is completed, and the trustworthy collodion has at the fleeing vision on permanent record. The Occident photographs took all horsemen by surprise, they having no conception of the cramped attitude of the animal in certain stages of his strides, and the unequal aspect shown when he is gathering his strength for the bound, and these dog pictures will create a like surprise in the minds of those who have only associated the alert greyhound with undulating and serpentine grace.

CATARRH

NEVER FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonial ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does, in every case, afford instant and permanent relief, and that notwithstanding, or how severe the disease, the first dose of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for CATARRH affords such comfort that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The unanimous opinion of medical men is that the SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for CATARRH.

The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position this remedy has attained, and believe it worthy of its reputation.

CHIZZOLA

Occupied the grade of Captain. Obtaining his brevet il capitano, he left Italy in 1864 and came to America, where, as foreign attaché on General Palmer's staff, he witnessed the last two months of the late war. After Lee's surrender, Chizzola went to Havana, where chance brought him into contact with Jacob Gran, who died of brain disease in New York five or six years ago. An apt linguist, he made the arrangement to translate into English all the libretti of Mme. Kistor's repertory. Afterwards associating himself with Mme. Kistor's management, he conducted the season of 1866-7, giving 140 performances, the receipts of which averaged the remarkable sum of $2300 per night. The association was in every way a pleasant one, for Mme. Kistor is remembered as a charming woman thoroughly business-like, and as always striving to make the welfare of her manager her own. In 1868 Chizzola made a tour as business manager with the Gazzanga concert troupe, and in 1869 helped make the fortune of Brigholi, Mlle Durand and himself. It was in 1870 that Chizzola paid his first visit to California, when he opened a season of Italian opera at the California Theater, with Miss McCutcheon as prima donna, Mme. Heane as contralto, Brigholi as tenor, Signor Mancuso as first and Petrilli as second baritone, and Sustini as basso. The season was not a brilliant one; but four operas were given, from Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.I.

MESSES. WEERS & POTTER: Gentlemen—Feeling the urgent demand for a radical remedy for CATARRH, I have prepared a new and improved one, which I have named SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. It has been used for more than ten years, and not until recently could it be induced to perform with any real effect. I now find that it acts directly, and the unanimous opinion is that after using five or six bottles I can then say that it is a radical remedy. Hoping others similarly situated will be induced to make the trial, I am, your very truly, etc., GEO. T. BOGERT.

THE GAZETTE.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1880.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—February has a cold reception.
—The city parents meet to-night.
—Judge Conger opens court in Jefferson to-morrow.
—Only one arrest was made within forty-eight hours, and he's solitary tramp.
—J. D. King went to Chicago this afternoon to commence his new work.
—Revival meetings at the First Methodist church every evening this week.
—Even bets were made to-day on the prospects of a new trial for Mrs. Mack.

—Mrs. Frank Adams and Emily F. Evans, at Cannon's hall to-morrow evening.
—Wanted 10 girls to assort tobacco. Apply at the store formerly occupied by Harris & Smith, on River street.

—Hon. J. D. Weeks, of Whitewater, was in the city to-day on his way to Jefferson to attend Judge Conger's Court.

—The Walworth county court opens at Elkhorn on the 6th, at which term it is expected the Mrs. Fogarty will be tried.

—The Supreme Court meets to-morrow and it is expected that a decision will then be rendered in the Mack and Dickerson cases.

—Mr. John Barnes, who has been a grain buyer in Beloit for twenty-five years, died at his home in that city on Saturday.

—Miss Hattie Dearborn was in her place in the Trinity church yesterday, having returned from Chicago, where she has been for several weeks.

—Forbes Dramatic Company, which is well remembered here, promises to come again to Janesville soon. They drew good houses and gave great satisfaction when here before, and will doubtless do so again.

—Special meetings at the Court street church on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. It is expected that Rev. Mr. Updike, of Delavan, will be present and preach on one or more of the evenings.

—William Booth, the General Agent of the Northwestern Life Insurance Company for Kansas, was in the city Saturday. He called at the Gazette office and paid his twenty-four annual subscription for the Gazette.

—Mrs. Cunningham, who has been attending her husband in Michigan, expected to resume her duties as principal of the Second ward school to-day, but she was taken ill, and has therefore been unable to return home as was expected.

—Mr. A. P. Bennett will this week have an architect at work planning for his new building. He has rented the building now occupied by Morse's restaurant, and will move his hardware stock there, when he commences building, which will not be perhaps before the last of March.

—Last evening about 6 o'clock a stranger entered the residence of Fred Sonnenberg and demanded immediate attention. The whole house was for a moment thrown into confusion, but in a few minutes the physician pronounced it a boy weighing ten pounds. The mother and child are doing well.

—The Band Concert at the Congregational church to-night will be worthy of a packed house, and worthy of the organization which has already won so much praise. Everything is in readiness. Mr. Grove arrived from Chicago this afternoon, and the other participants are also on hand, ready for the event.

—Little Marc, who wrestled with Joseph, a short time ago in this city, lost a match at Cincinnati last night, his opponent, Prout, being the winner of the three out of five falls. Two of the bouts were Greco-Roman, and three in "catch as you can" style. Prout was nowhere in the Greco-Roman, out in the latter won easily. —Harris Richardson, now attending Yale, has been honored by being elected one of the historians of the Junior class for their coming class day. Considering the number in the class, and the hot contest for the position, the honor is a marked one. The three other historians elected are, A. E. Bowditch, Litchfield, Conn.; F. C. Griswold, Greenfield, Mass.; Isaac Bromley, New Haven, Conn.

—M. F. Young, Esq., Treasurer of the Great London Circus, was in the city Saturday. His mission here was to inquire as to Mr. Robbins' condition, and to bear to him and his friends kindly expressions of sympathy from Messrs. Cooper & Bailey, the proprietors of the Great London, and from the others connected with that enterprise. Mr. Young is a perfect gentleman, and was well chosen for such a mission.

—The annual Convention of the Agricultural and Horticultural Association of the State is to be held in Madison on the 2nd and 3rd of February, and continuing through Friday. The evening sessions are to be held in the Assembly chamber and the day sessions in the Society's rooms. The Board meet this evening, but the first meeting of public interest will be to-morrow night. Those who attend can by paying full fare to Madison and securing the Secretary's certificate, secure return tickets at one-fifth of the regular rate. Dr. C. Loftus Martin, Cyrus Miner and others will go from this city.

—We regret to learn that Mr. J. T. Wright, President of the Green Bay Hide & Leather Company, and who has made this city his home for several years past, has made arrangements to leave Green Bay permanently and to resume his residence in Janesville—a "first love" which we suspect he has never outgrown. Mr. Wright has proved an energetic and public spirited citizen, and is of the stamp a community cannot afford to lose. But the good wishes of many friends will follow both him and Mrs. Wright in their old-new home. Meantime, the charge of the leather business here, hitherto assumed by Mr. Wright, will now be undertaken by the Secretary of the Company, W. B. Terry, from Janesville, assisted by Mr. Wilde, of Boston. They are both sterling business men and will be warmly welcomed.—

—Astor House, New York, best accommodations, reduced prices.

THE OPENING.

A large number of our citizens having united in asking Mr. T. J. Salaman, the proprietor of the Grand hotel to name a date, when it would be convenient for him to have an opening party, that gentleman has fixed upon Monday evening February 9th. The arrangements are being made for that occasion, and committees have been named. It has been decided to have supper from 8:30 to 10 o'clock on that evening, and to have the dance at Cannon's hall commencing at 10 o'clock. Anderson's band has been engaged for the occasion, and everything will be in keeping. Mr. Salaman has fitted his hotel in an elegant manner, and will make of it a hotel of which all who delight in Janesville's prosperity or good name must feel proud, and there is no doubt but that this opening party will be a most enjoyable occasion, and a fit expression of the good will which all feel towards this new enterprise, and toward him who stands at its head.

One patient for whom you procured the St. Jacob's Oil, is an old man of 74 years, who for four years had been suffering with Rheumatism and Swelling of the Legs. He consulted five physicians without any help. We tried the St. Jacob's Oil, on him, and this wonderful remedy cured the sufferer beyond the reach of danger.

W.M. HINRICH, Orangeville N. Y.

A BABY CAMEL.

There has been a birth on Burr Robbins' farm, which is worthy of more than passing note, it being a camel, which first saw light this morning. The new comer weighs about eighty pounds, and is all legs and neck, like any other young camel, but he seems healthy and reasonably strong. This is the second camel which has been born on Mr. Robbins' farm, the first being two years ago next May. It is now a strong, healthy camel, and last season it made good time on the road, without a skip or a break. That was the first camel born in this country outside of Texas and Arizona, and the baby camel now comes in as claimant for second honors.

RICH READINGS.

The readings to be given to-morrow evening in Cannon's hall by Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Evans, will be something entirely new in that line.

From various sources we are assured that these ladies have more than an ordinary power of entertaining an audience, and all who delight in the elocutionary art should surely share in this promised feast. These ladies come here highly recommended by those who are well known here, and there is no doubt but that the entertainment will be one worthy of a crowded house. The following is the programme:

Montreal Heard From.

R. L. Morely, of Montreal, Canada, certified Sept. 27, 1870, that he had suffered terribly from dyspepsia, and was completely cured by taking Warner's Safe Bitters. He says: "My appetite is good, and I now suffer no inconvenience from eating hearty meals." These Bitters are also a specific for all skin diseases.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS. The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 13 degrees above, at 1 o'clock a. m. to day at 10 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 12 above; and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 25 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are, for the lake region, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer, low but slowly rising temperature and partly cloudy weather, with light snow in the northern portion.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire through the columns of your paper to express my gratitude to the many friends for their timely care, to E. B. Heimstreet for special favors, the Temple of Honor, and the employees of the Cotton Factory, for the substantial tokens of sympathy received during my affliction. I am under many obligations, and I shall remember each contributor with lasting gratitude. Yours,

D. Y. WESCOFT.

NOT QUITE SO WELL.

Mr. Robbins had rather a bad turn Saturday afternoon and evening, but rallied from it yesterday, and to-day he has been quite comfortable, until this afternoon, when he became feverish and restless, and is suffering more.

THE NEW SHOE FACTORY.

The shoe factory of Thomas & Griffith started up this afternoon, the last piece of machinery being received this morning, so that work will now be pushed right along. The new enterprise promises to be a success, and is certainly in the hands of enterprising and experienced men.

JANESVILLE TROTTERS.

The following letter of "Cassius," to Danton's Spirit of the Turf, will be read with interest by many here:

This has been a prosy winter for our horsemen who delight in a brush on our favorite drive—Main street. We had a few days' excellent sleighing from Christmas to New Years, and, while it lasted, our riders were out in force—Mr. Eldredge moving Calamus and his sister along at a merry gait; George Nelson indulging Jenkins in an occasional spin, and also Lady McFarlane, H. D. McKinney was out every day with Enchantress, and none of the trotters could get the best of him. Dr. Judd managed to get up the street with his Goldust mare about as fast as any of the boys. The last we saw of the Doctor he was heading towards Milwaukee; he was game, shouting, whoo! pretty loud, and doing some pretty pulling; but I am inclined to think he reached Milwaukee safely; it would take him just two hours to make it at the rate he was going. The Doctor, as usual, has a very fine span of bay geldings.

Mr. Woodruff, of the "buckle bonanza," has a very fast young mare by Swigert, she trotted half a mile in 13½ last fall, and we hope to see her trot another mile up faster in the spring. Mr. Woodruff has a model farm almost within the city limits. Dairying is the principal feature of the farm, although he is breeding a stallion, and his horses and stable are unequalled in Southern Wisconsin. John Gray has a trotter every year, and when he was a foal he was a buckskin, but he is now a dark bay, and is a mystery to the boys, but they will all find him out.

In the spring time When the roads are fine, as the song goes. A new candidate for road honors is Ed. Carpenter, E. G., brother of the Wisconsin Senator, who has a very pretty roan mare that can trot in 14, but his hopes are centered in his Almont filly, two years old. Mrs. Belmont's Almont, Jr., is showing up some grand youngsters, and proving himself a grand sire. His breeding will recommend him to any intelligent breeder.

H. D. McKinney is getting quite a collection of well-bred youngsters—some thoroughbreds in all. He has two Daniel Lamberts coming three and four, both handsome, out of a fast mare. Both have been handled enough to show that they will come up to the Lambert standard. He has a George Sprague, coming two years old, out of Mambrino Princess. She is a trotter, and you will hear from her. But a filly coming two years old, by Swigert, fits the eyes of the expert horsemen, and when they see more "that settles it." They say "all Swigert's trot" out of the same dam, Mambrino Star, 2½. He has a yearling colt, and a grand one, that will do credit to his breeding; also a yearling Happy Medium, out of the Morris Locke mare (Mr. Locke paid $3,000 for her). We shall only be surprised if he doesn't trot. A filly coming three, out of Mambrino Princess by Doubleday's Hickory Abdallah, Mr. Locke thinks he will match against any of her age, as her dam trotted in 2:32½ as a 4-year-old, and her sire has a record of 2:32. Why shouldn't she trot, if there is anything in breeding? Janesville Hambletonian by Milwaukee, has gone back to Milwaukee. We regretted to lose him, as he is the equal of any stock horse in the State, when we consider his fine size and perfect color. Ex-May Rogers has been indulging his old love for a trotter, and has purchased the fine young mare, Western Belle. She will be campaigned next season. George McKee is here with his mare waiting patiently for sleighing, and will take the concert out of many of the boys, for Mag is clunker. Dr. Wm Horn is not on the war-path this winter, the Doctor having bred his fine little mare, Queen of the West, to Mr. Ryman's stallion by Swigert, dam Bonnie Scotland, and there is no better bred young horse in our country—a higher finished and grand young horse.

EXTRA.—For persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long and continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know of no better medicine for restoration to health than Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

Turkish Hammam.

It is reported that the Sultan, though engaged in a great war, found time to order largely of SOZONDIT. He says his women will have it, and he wants peace at home. Wise Sultanas: rub it well after your bath. Let's follow the "Turkeys".
